Huns on Their Way---to Berlin

Breezelets

The great drive started on 1st of July.

Must have known that Alberta went on the water wagon that day.

The Johnny Kanucks remembered that it was their country's natal day, and worked overtime in the Hun's trenches.

"The Day" has begun for the Allies.

The kaiser's "Day," too, has begun.

When he can trot back home, instead of his little jaunt to Paris and London.

The Huns have been boasting that their western front was impregnable.

It is, now that it is in the care of the Allies.

It is said that 5,000,000 shells fired by the British in the five days' bombardment of the Huns' trenches.

That must have been an eye-opener to the kaiser, who has imagined that he had a monopoly of that article.

It is said that since the great drive started the German "Hate" song has been revived.

Sure, Mike! The Huns hate to give up their comfortable trenches to the English.

Since the war everything has gone up.

Umbrellas have "gone up" constantly during the past few weeks.

The Huns are on the run, but not on their way to Paris or to Calais. They "are on their way, but they don't know where!"

The Russians are making a strong pull for Constantinople.

The Italians are tiring the Austrians in the Tyrol.

The Russians are bucking away at Buckovina.

And many a lass has responded to the call to arms.

Chinook Breezes

All the visitors speak highly of the Calgary fair.

Did you ever see finer crops than around this district?

An important notice appears in another column, re municipal hail insurance.

We notice that Jas. E. Martin is building an addition to his house.

Found, a pair of gloves. The owner can have the same by proving property and paying for this advertisement.

It is reported that over twenty head of colts, owned by a rancher near the river, south of here, were killed during the electrical storm on Sunday.

Found, a watch in Chinook. The owner of this ticker can have the same by proving property and paying for this advertisement, which will cost him just one buck—a lesson for his carelessness.

J. E. Bunney

WITHOUT AT ALL BEING FUNNY
SAYS ITS WORTH THE MONEY

TO CARRY THE MAIL

Mr. J. E. Bunney, mail carrier for Reaville-Chilmark route, was in town this week, looking for a canoe in which to cross the small rivers which he meets on his way. In one place, just south of Reaville, he had to pile the mail on the horses' backs in order to keep it dry. The government is considering putting in a culvert and residents of that vicinity sincerely hope that they will do it soon.

CAWNT UNDERSTAND IT

A company of soldiers dressed in khaki, with the bandage-like puttees about their legs, were waiting for their train at Calgary station, recently. Among the spectators were an old countryman and his wife.

"I say, George," the old lady whispered, "there's somethin' I can't understand about they soldiers."

"What be it, lass?"

"I can't think how they get their laigs into they twisted trousers."

The Late John Barleycorn

Knock-Out Blow in His Bigintestinaltummy
Keeled Him Over

It is generally with great regret that the newspaper man is called upon to chronicle the death of a neighbor or a friend, or, perchance, some noted person; but for once, at least, the Alberta newspaper man has to record with pleasure the death and burial of perhaps the most noted personage—outside of sacred writ—in the world's history, to wit, John Barleycorn—no flowers now, please, as the deceased, John Barleycorn, has been thriving for some years on the flower of fair Alberta's manhood and womanhood; and all his life on that of every civilized nation in the world.

The deceased, John Barleycorn, a squatter in Alberta for some years, was well—but no one can say favorably—known, had of late shown tokens of slight paralysis and heart trouble on different occasions, accelerated by coming in contact with a long-suffering public and the law of the province; and at last a terrible encounter took place—a death struggle, in fact—and the late John Barleycorn received a knock-out blow in his spinalmengintistestinaltummy, in June, 1915, from which he never recovered, and for twelve months he had been in a very wobbly condition, until last Friday, June 30th, at the bewitching hour of midnight, the late John Barleycorn "kicked the bucket," and skidded from the Province of Alberta.

Although in a wobbly condition during the past twelve months the deceased John Barleycorn showed great vitality and put up a stiff fight for compensation for damages to his intestinaltummy and the terrible black eye he received in his encounter with the ballot box.

Being in a crippled condition, the deceased was smart on his pins and extra keen for business, no doubt realizing that he was a doomed occupant and that his tentacles were losing their grip on his "victims," and even in his death struggles—like the "porkyopine"—he threw out his quills, and many victims were seen on our streets long after the deceased John Barleycorn's tentacles had been chopped off, struggling, fighting and snarling like Kilkenny cats, ready to chew each other up, but who before were the best of friends.

The deceased John Barleycorn is one of the most widely known personages in the world's history. In every civilized country in the world he is one of the earliest settlers and he has left his imprint on every species of humanity, which has been disastrous in every case, with no exceptions. True, he has been legally killed in many places, but the effects of his death-dealing acquaintance and visits have left seeds that germinate in every kind of soil, in old and young countries alike.

Alberta is the latest to legally kill John Barleycorn, and it is to be hoped that he will be killed and buried for all time. Thousands have been the victims he has sent to their graves. His influence has been, and still will be for some time in Alberta, very far reaching, and it will require united strength to evaporate it from our province.

Here lies the body of John Barleycorn,

He never did any good

If he could he never would,

So for his death no one will ever mourn.

And where he's gone and how he fares

Nobody knows and nobody cares.

[With apologies to Bobby Burns]

Miss Semple, second teacher at Chinook school during the past six months, left on Saturday for her home in Ontario.

Mrs. J. R. Miller and family left on Friday to visit her brother at Fort Francis, Ont., for two or three weeks. Returning will bring her mother back with her.

Some Chinookers Abroad

To give some idea of the number from Chinook and vicinity that visited the Calgary fair some 50 tickets were sold for that city at the local depot here.

Have you seen that aeroplane in Woodruff's store window? The model was made in the tinshop by Mr. Woodruff's nephew, W. Haley, of Vancouver, who was here on a visit.

More Attractions

In addition to the lists of events given in the Collingwood picnic bills for July 14th, there will be a sack race and a race for girls under and over 16 years of age. These were omitted from the list.

Trust They Will Banfill

Messrs. James Corcoran, A. T. Vaughan and John Johnson left first of the week to visit the Calgary exhibition and then motor to Banff (weather permitting) where they intend staying for three or four weeks, to see the sights, and take the sulphur baths for that "rhumatiz."

Was Some Electrical Storm

During the electrical storm which visited here on Sunday afternoon, a moment after an excessively bright flash of lighting and a crack of thunder, the top of the roof of Mah Brothers' restaurant was struck, splintering off shingles covering some feet. No other damage is reported. The rain was heaviest to the south, although quite a deluge fell in and around Chinook.

There's Something

IN A REPUTATION, SURE!

When fighting is to be done it is noticeable that most people, even the peaceable minded and the ones who dislike wars, want soldiers who have a reputation as fighters.

This may be noticed in every country. In the European countries now at war certain regiments are given a tremendous reputation whenever they are on parade or whenever members of them return to their homes. Particularly is this so of some of the British regiments.

Those regiments have earned the reputation some through generations of fighting, of always being composed of first class fighting men, of being ready to go through the enemy or go against the enemy no matter what the odds if given the word to advance.

It is reputation won by former members of the regiment on the hard fought fields of past wars, a reputation cherished by the present members, a reputation that draws recruits and a reputation that will be maintained at whatever cost when they face the fire.

In the Dominion we hear of the "Fighting Tenth," the "Fighting Princess Pats," and many others, whose magnificent reputation will be written on the immortal pages of history, a reputation that will bear comparison with some of the well-known British regiments.

And the stay-at-homes, the exempt, the pacifists and the women folks all like to know that the regiments are "fighting regiments, like to know that when they move on a battlefield it will be forward, like to know that the old primal fighting instinct of the race is still in the present generation on the firing line.

No one, not even the most ardent pacifist, would care to have a regiment that was going to fight for his country made up of slackers and persons who would not fight.

If there is any way to do it, the idea of taxing aliens for the Patriotic fund should be adopted. Citizens of other nations who are living in Canada and making their money here are as much entitled to pay for their protection Canada's soldiers are giving them as are the native born.—Calgary Herald

School and Equipment for Sale

I HAVE been instructed by the Board of Trustees of Popular S.D., No. 2613, to offer for sale the following property of the said district: The School Building, which is large and well-built—has a neat cold-shed behind—would be a good investment for a neighboring district requiring a school or a church; or with but little extra cost it could be made into a fine dwelling.

A Stable, large enough for 8 or 10 horses.

Two good Closets, with screened approaches.

Fencing, 7 or 8 stout cement posts, large and small iron gates, cedar posts and woven wire enough to fence 2 acres, some of the wire never been unrolled.

Teachers' desk, office chair, 2 other chairs, and 15 desks for pupils, large map case and maps, library case and library, reading tablets, large bell, blackboard, etc.

Waterbury Heating System, good as new.

A Good School Organ, in use but a short time.

Two screen doors—never been used; coal and kindling. Everything must be sold. Tenders will be received for all or for any part of this property. If tendering for more than one part of it, state how much you will pay for each part. In this way all will have a fair chance. Tenders must be in before June 30th.
